

Provides a 6 hour CE for our partners in Northern Virginia
(Professionals in Counseling, Psychology, Social Work, etc.)

The SERVE Model Part 2:

Using a synthesized model of neuroscience, attachment theory and evidence-based treatment to more effectively treat the complex traumatic stress of human trafficking.

You must have previously participated in Part 1 of this training prior to attending The SERVE Model Part 2. A 3-hour abridged training on Part 1 will be offered on Thursday night for any who need it prior to the Friday training.

Friday, June 9, 2017
Registration Training
8:00am - 8:30am 8:30am - 4:30pm
(Lunch will not be provided during the lunch break)

Located at
Vienna Presbyterian Church
124 Park Street, NE
Vienna, VA 22180

Presented by:
Bonnie Martin
MEd, CACS, LPC
SERVE Model Creator

&

Northern Virginia Human Trafficking Initiative
(NOVAHTI)

~ Learning Objectives ~

- Apply practical prevention and intervention for Autonomic Nervous System Dysregulation
- Describe the relationship between trafficking and substance abuse and implications for treatment
- Apply TRIGGER-THOUGHT-FEELING-RELAPSE and Recovery timeline to client relapse behaviors
- Identify Cognitive Distortions and utilized Needs Inventory for emotional regulation
- Apply Spirit of MI to interrupt the Betrayal Bond
- Construct treatment plan utilizing BASE and SEEDS to increase cognitive ability and emotional stability.
- Demonstrate how to SERVE clients

To register: Visit: <https://complextraumatraining.eventbrite.com>

Conference Registration Fee -with CE credit - $99

-without CE credit- $49

-student without CE credit- $20

(See website for combined pricing for Thursday & Friday training)

(No refunds available)

contact Julianna Herbek at jherbek@yftva.com or (703)955-3196

for questions

Youth For Tomorrow has been approved by NBCC as an Approved Continuing Education Provider, ACEP No. 6797. Programs that do not qualify for NBCC credit are clearly identified. Youth For Tomorrow is solely responsible for all aspects of the programs.